Taking Down Freddy Fazbear Three Times!

Chapter 1: The Mysterious Pizza Place

In a suburban residential area, a restaurant was opened to the entire public. It was Freddy Fazbear's Pizzeria, known infamously for the mascot Freddy Fazbear, and also the animatronics on the stage. Though it began with a very good start, there are still concerns and complaints about the animatronics. Since the pizzeria had moved its location to this place, those who had come to this place have been aware of the horrifying mysteries that occurred in the past.

One day, someone had left the pizzeria with a worried look on his face. It was Souji Mitsuka, a normal schoolboy in his adolescent age. He was famous for transforming into Tailred, the red-haired female fighter despite of his gender being male. He had earned a job as a night guard in Freddy Fazbear's pizzeria, and he had no idea what to do when the animatronics attack. Just then, two boys along with two dogs showed up, asking him what's wrong.

"Hey Mr. Souji! What's the matter with you? Are you scared about what happened to Freddy's in the past?" the boy along with his Great Dane asked.

"Nothing. I've already heard them in a much secret way, which is the disappearances of children and the Bite of '87. I can't tell them openly to those who are at the restaurant, it might be bad for the business!" Souji replied. He had overheard the secret conversations in the restaurant, causing him to get worried over the attack by the animatronics. He feared that at midnight, they will stuff him into a suit to be one of them.

"Hey, why not if you just try to do some relaxation techniques? We can help you with this!" the young boy recommended. But Souji was reluctant to listen to him, so he just watched him go off.

"What will we do? What will we do?" the pink dog panicked as something bad was about to happen to Souji this midnight.

"Calm down, Courage. We have to think of a better plan to help him." the young boy answered. Courage the pink dog was frightened and suffers from any phobias, so he was trying to help Souji.

"Like what we can do save him? The pizzeria's got scary mysteries to be solved with, Dipper! Me and Scooby are really afraid of the animatronics because of those events in the past!" the tall man answered. Dipper racked his brain as he thought about the tactics, skills and actions needed for a better plan.

"Hey Shaggy, why not if we pair up to save him from the animatronics? We must keep him from harm so that he would be safe from the hands of the animatronics!" Dipper said as an idea flashed in his mind like a lighted candle.

"Sure! I am in to save him from those freaky monster machines!" Shaggy replied.

"I am in for defense too!" Courage hollered as he gathered his bravery.

"Re roo!" Scooby Doo shouted as he agreed with Dipper's plan.

Dipper, Scooby, Courage and Shaggy put their hands and paws together like a football team before playing a match, then they shouted, "Ready or not, Here comes the Furious Four Fighters!"

At midnight, a battle between the animatronics and the Furious Four Fighters will begin, in a similar story to how the Monkey King defeats the White Bone Demon to save Tang San Zhang.
